Assalamualaikumwarahmatullah wa-barakatuh and greetings.

On behalf of Lincoln University College Malaysia, let me extend my warm welcome to all of you for the 2022 convocation ceremony. It is a day of celebration, a day of recognitions and great achievements of our graduating students. Congratulations to all successful students. At Lincoln University College (LUC), we look at successful students not only on their academic achievement but also looking at their attributes. Graduates should have a deep and profound knowledge of their own subjects. They should be able to think critically and creatively and have a passion to continue learning after they left the university. Students should be leaders in their community and leave the world a better place than when they have found it. They must also have a good personal skills and positive attitudes as these attributes is most important than being successful in their studies. This way they should be able to contribute to wherever it is they choose to live and work in the world. LUC offers a large and liberal education which emphasizes an international and intercultural awareness, ethical values and social activities. LUC core curriculum, develops student creativity, critical and independent thinking, as well as their written and oral communication skill. These will equip them to respond effectively to new challenges in the world. Today symbolizes an important day in your life, you have successfully graduated in your programs. Congratulations again to all graduates on your successful completion of your respective programmes. I wish you success in your endeavour and May Allah bless you.

Thank you.

We are proud to see students coming out in with their master degrees in their hands to commence on a new journey. In real life, you graduate each day while the learning process continues until the last day of your life. To reach this point was a significant achievement in itself, for which I commend you. It takes hardwork, determination, and teamwork to have come this far. It is my pleasure therefore to congratulate the graduates and their parents for being here to see this day.
